Teterboro Airport at a Glance ... Nearby Attractions

Just twelve miles from midtown Manhattan, Teterboro Airport, with its rich aviation history, is designed as a “reliever” airport for general aviation requirements of the region. The airport has no scheduled commercial air carrier operations nor allows aircraft operations with weights in excess of 100,000 pounds. It is your gateway to the city that never sleeps New York, New York!

Interested in a unique shopping excursion? Try the Best of Fifth Avenue in New York City. A designer hasn't hit the big time until they have a flagship store on New York's fashion-famous Fifth Avenue. From jewelers like Tiffany & Co. to high-end designers like Louis Vuitton and Gucci to a host of more-mainstream apparel stores, if you can't find it on Fifth Avenue, it probably isn't worth finding. Perhaps a visit to FAO Schwarz Toy Store, enchanting children since 1862 - also located on New York's Fifth Avenue - should be on your holiday shopping list. While in Manhattan, take an opportunity to enjoy the finest in live theatre or a double-decker sightseeing tour of Times Square, Rockefeller Center/Top of the Rock, Empire State Building, Lincoln Center for Performing Arts, Intrepid Air & Space Museum and many more attractions too numerous to mention.

Nearby Secaucus, New Jersey offers a closer, more affordable alternative to Fifth Avenue. Fifty outlet stores, multiple restaurants and movie theatres, all conveniently located in the same complex, create a wonderful destination for a few hours or the entire day.

Whether in New York City or Northern New Jersey, sporting venues abound throughout the area offering in-season hockey, baseball, basketball, football – all a stone's throw from Teterboro Airport.

Teterboro Airport is also home of The Aviation Hall of Fame and Museum of New Jersey. Founded in 1972, AHOF honors men and women who brought outstanding aeronautical achievements to the world. The Museum houses air and space equipment and thousands of artifacts, photographs, fine art as well as an extensive model collection, video tapes and publications. Opened Tuesday thru Sunday 1000 to 1600 local. <http://www.njahof.org>
