Things you should know about Thessaloniki

Thessaloniki, is the second-largest city in Greece and the capital of the region of Macedonia. Its honorific title is “Συμπρωτεύουσα” (Symprotévousa), literally "co-capital", a reference to its historical status as the “Συμβασιλεύουσα” (Symvasilévousa) or "co-reigning" city of the Byzantine Empire, alongside Constantinople.

Thessaloniki is Greece's second major economic, industrial, commercial and political centre, and a major transportation hub for the rest of south-eastern Europe. The city hosts an annual International Trade Fair, the International Thessaloniki Film Festival, and the largest bi-annual meeting of the Greek Diaspora.

Thessaloniki is home to numerous notable Byzantine monuments, including the Paleochristian and Byzantine monuments of Thessaloniki, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, as well as several Ottoman and Sephardic Jewish structures.

Things to see in Thessaloniki

- The Archaeological Museum with exhibitions from Ancient to the Hellenistic and Roman Occupation Years of the Region.
- The Byzantine Museum with exhibitions from the Byzantine era and treasures from the Mount Athos, the Holy Mountain of Christian Orthodox around the world.
- The ancient Market at Aristotelous Square.
- The Church of Saint Dimitrious, the Patron Saint of the city.
- The Yedi Kule, Byzantine Fortress at the highest point of the city, with the panoramic view of the gulf of Thermaikos.

Things to see in Thessaloniki

- The most popular trips outside of the city are to the great beaches of the Halkidiki Peninsula.
- For day trips there are some great destinations at approximately an hour's drive:
 - Vergina, Pella, Dion (with archaeological interest);
 - Kaimaktsalan, 3-5 Pigadia, Seli, Elatochori (skiing centers);
 - Kerkini lake, Agio Oros (Mt. Athos), Olympus Mountain (for sight seeing)
